

PLANET-MAN: ALL MACHINES

The god of machines found new servants.

Circuit World returned as pain.

Her eyes opened, then closed.

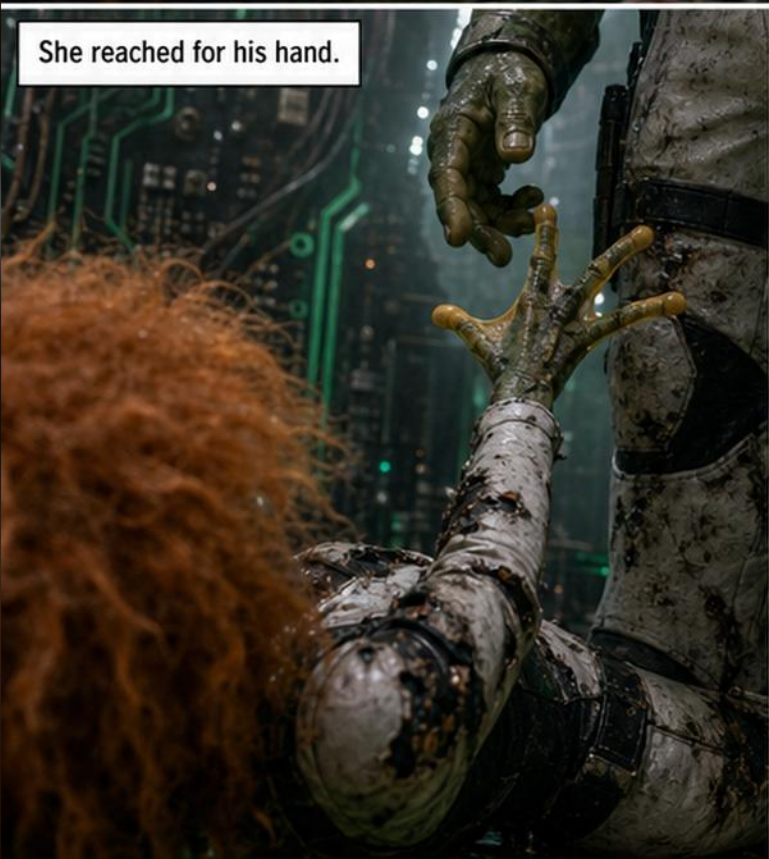

Machine Monarch beat me?

Bruiser stood over her.

She reached for his hand.

He swatted it away.

I know you're the strongest of us.

But that doesn't make you the god of gods.

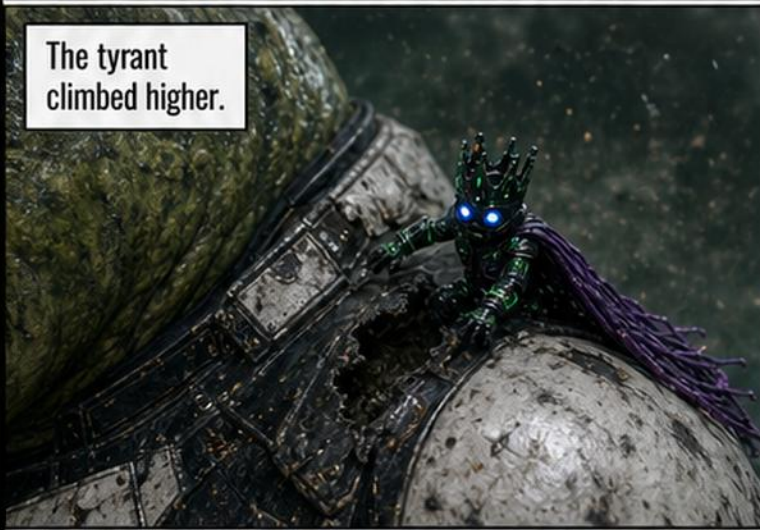

Silence!

God has not permitted you to speak.

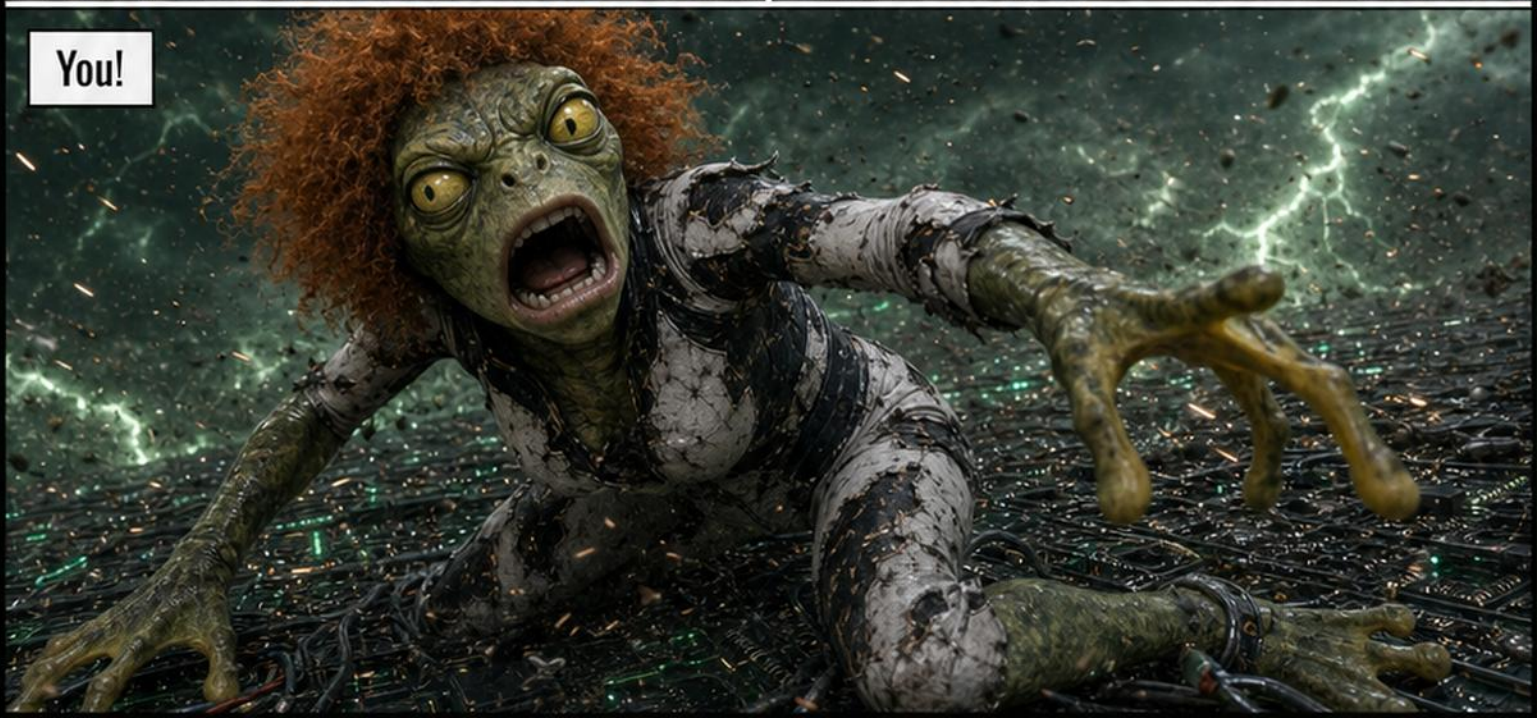

The tyrant climbed higher.

His wire cape caught the wind.

You!

Wind gathered in her hands.

Bruiser's foot fell first.

Her breath disappeared.

What's happening?

Show her.

The broken
red eye was gone.

Bruiser is part machine.

Like all machines, he listens to his god.

Leapona crawled backward.

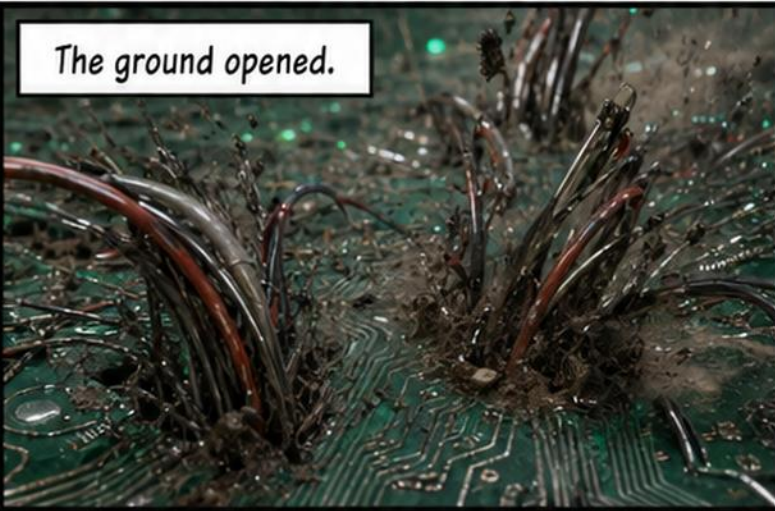

Didn't you hear me?

All machines.

The ground opened.

The wires obeyed.

She called the wind
below her.

Bruiser answered with green light.

The blast stunned her.

A white
glyph bloomed.

For one second,
she smiled.

Then the glyph
flickered.

And
vanished.

Bruiser lowered his head.

The tongue unrolled like a bridge.

The king walked down it.

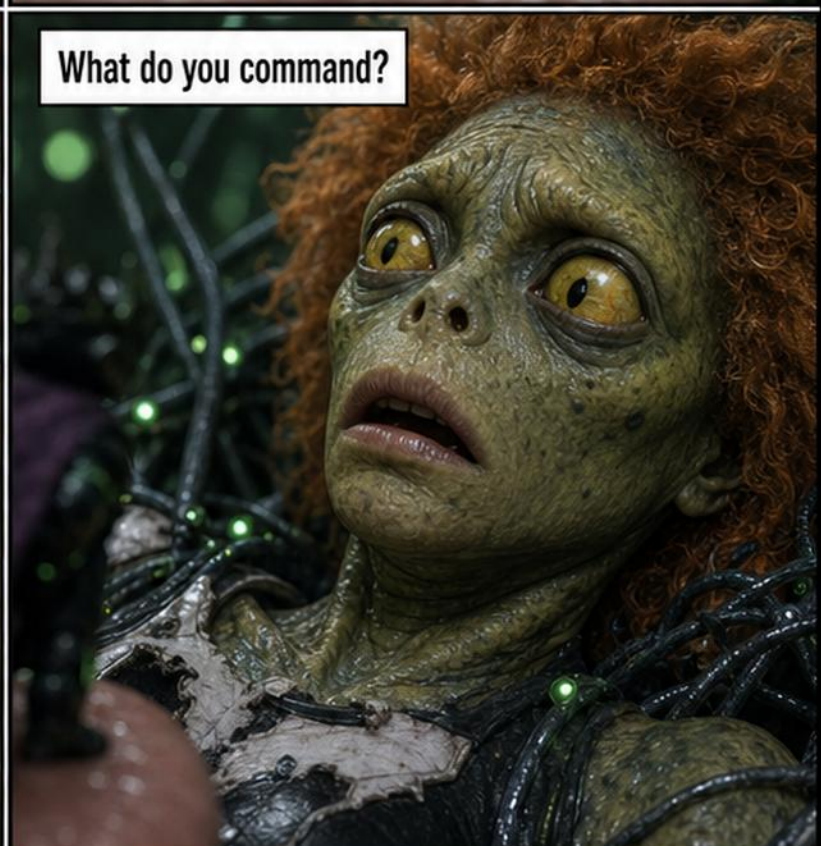

I am your god now.

You will do as I command.

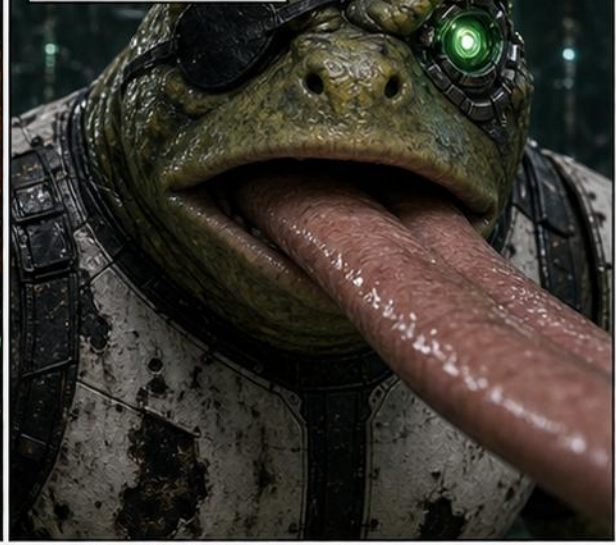

What do you command?

When I'm done upgrading you two...

You both will help me finally eliminate...

Planet-Man!

Bruiser did not blink.

The wires tightened.

Machine Monarch's eyes burned bright.

Lightning answered.

